SOLIDWATER

Powder Dosing

Dry dosing is most efficiently done with a screw doser. The doser has both good dosing accuracy and operational reliability.

Screw dosers are easy to maintain, and comsumable parts are easy to replace. Small clumps in the powder will not impede operation, because screws break them up in most cases, preventing them from blocking the system.

The material used in the equipment is either stainless or acid-proof steel (AISI304, AISI 316).
